

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS TWELVE

An Entire Family in Chicago Wiped Out Last Night.

MANY ARE HURT

Gas Mains Blow Up and Passing Street Cars Are Hurlled from Track.

SEVERAL ARE INJURED

Chicago, Feb. 6.—After an all night search during which twelve bodies were recovered, from the ruins of the buildings wrecked last night by a natural gas explosion, the firemen and police have arrived at the conclusion that the death list will not be increased, although the search has not been abandoned.

A number of persons are reported missing this morning, but the police feel confident that they are all right. All the injured are doing and none will die.

Two Buildings Collapse.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Twelve lives were lost and a score of persons injured in an explosion last night that demolished two buildings and blew out the fronts of a dozen other structures in Archer avenue at Twenty-second street. Street cars were lifted from the rails, gas mains blew up and sent steel and iron manhole covers crashing through space, flame mounted high at a dozen points and panic reigned for almost an hour.

Heroic deeds of rescue were performed, deeds that were forgotten in the excitement a moment later but which saved from death fully half a hundred women and children.

The moment the fire had been beaten down in the tangled mass of wreckage that marked where the buildings had stood Marshalls Campion and Mahoney led their men in the search of the ruins for the bodies of the missing. All have been accounted for, though complete identification is impossible, except one of the employees, whose name is not known, and it is now thought he escaped by crawling out of the wreckage.

The dead: Otto Trostel, Mrs. Augusta Trostel, Annie Trostel, 11 years; Lena Trostel, 7 years; Miss Mary Rosenthal, Miss Sophia Knapp, domestic; May Trostel, 9 years; Otto Trostel, Jr., 5 years; Ben Trostel, 1½ years; Fred Trostel, 25 years; employee named Otto, last name unknown.

The first explosion, which was followed by four more bursts of flame and noise along the road in Archer avenue, occurred in the basement of the meat-shop conducted by Otto Trostel, a two-story brick and frame building at 376 Twenty-second street. Trostel's nephew, Fred, with two other helpers in the place, had been working in the ice box. The proprietor, who had only a few minutes before returned from a funeral, had attended to the wants of a customer. It is said that one of the men had left his work and went down into the basement beneath the front sidewalk to remedy the trouble that had been experienced all evening with the gas, there being considerable frost in the pipes.

Suddenly there was a terrific roar. The frame building trembled, then seemed to fall into a thousand parts and collapse. The entire front blew out and went whirling across the avenue, while the roof and the side walls crumbled and fell in, carrying the helpless men and women and children down into the mass of the fire and broken timbers.

The walls of the building to the east of the butcher shop crashed in on eight men drinking at the bar of a saloon, driving the bar against them and pinning them to the opposite side of the building. Stoves toppled over and ignited the woodwork, threatening them with destruction most terrible.

There was a second deafening roar. Then came two more detonations, like the echoes of the first. From the center of the street portions of the pavement seemed to rise into the air, to give way for columns of flame that shot up. The explosion in the meat shop had sent a line of flame through the gas mains leading into the street, and the big pipe, buried deep in the ground, was bursting at various points and finding vent at the conduit openings along the thoroughfare.

In Archer avenue, just around the corner from Twenty-second street, stands a high building occupied as a hospital, and here the impact of the explosion hurled patients from their cots and threw the attendants from their feet, creating a fresh panic in a new place.

The injured: A. Barnes, George Bauman, Miss Emma Behrert, A. F. Collins, Peter Danderand, P. E. Donahue, John Erickson, Miss Emma Foelz, Andrew Finscalski, Steve Helmer, Nellie Merscham, Lucy Melrowski, Tim Moynihan, John W. McLeod, James O'Neill, Augustina Bosler, Frank Seipp, Kate Seavers, Wah Sing.

WANTS FEMALE RULE FOR ISLANDS: THEY OUTCLASS THE FILIPINO MEN

Governor Taft Suggests That Any Political Authority Granted Natives Be Placed in Hands of Women.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—Should any political rights be granted the Filipino people it would be better to give the ballot only to the women, according to a statement by Governor Taft in his evidence before the Senate Philippines committee today.

Governor Taft said the women of the Philippines hold a superior position. They are the active managers in general affairs, and the Spanish Archbishop had said to him that if it was intended to confer any political authority upon the Filipinos it should be conferred upon the female sex.

"Is it not true," interrupted Senator Dietrich, "while the women are engaged in conducting the affairs of the family the men are generally engaged in attending cock fights or going about the country with roosters under their arms?"

Mr. Patterson, in answer, read from the war department report to the effect that the Tagalogs are industrious, courteous, artistic, quiet and orderly. Governor Taft said that he had never met a Filipino who was not a musician, and he added:

"All Filipino crowds are well behaved and polite and the people are courteous. The Filipino also shows capacity for skilled labor, but he is negligent of machinery. I wish it were true that the Filipino is as industrious as is claimed, but he is not. Indeed, there are many of them who might secure work who do not seek it. This condition leads to a demand for the bringing in of Chinese."

This statement led Senator Hale to make inquiry concerning the presence of Chinese. The witness replied that the contractors and business-men generally contend for the necessity of bringing in Chinese labor.

Replying to other questions Gov. Taft stated that in the islands there are about 5,000,000 acres of land held by private persons, and that of this 402,000 acres are owned by the Catholic friars. Of these 402,000 acres, 250,000 are the best lands in the islands.

PAYNE WHITNEY AND HELEN HAY

Daughter of the Secretary of State Is Led to the Altar.

BIG SOCIAL EVENT

Brilliant Wedding Ceremony Interested People at National Capital Today.

PRESENTS ARE COSTLY

Washington, Feb. 6.—The marriage of Miss Helen Hay, daughter of secretary of state, Hay, to Payne Whitney of New York was solemnized today before an assemblage such as has been seldom seen for many a year in the Church of the Covenant.

This wedding was the most brilliant event of the season in Washington, with the exception of the coming out ball of Miss Roosevelt.

Some Valuable Presents
The presents which have been displayed in Secretary Hay's house for the last few days are valuable and artistic in a high degree, and come from various sources and from many parts of the country.

Rev. Dr. Tullius S. Hamlin presided at the service in the Church of the Covenant—the wealthiest Presbyterian church in the city—and was assisted by the Rev. A. S. Mayden, pastor of the Stone Presbyterian church, of Cleveland, which was named for Amasa Stone, father of Mrs. Hay.

Dr. Hayden used a prayer book which was used when the Secretary of State and his wife were married.

Those present included every person of note in the capital and scores of prominent society people in New York.

Decorations of the Church
In the church Arum lilies and spring flowers, white narcissus, white tulips and several varieties of white orchids were used with the floral effects. The walls were lost in curtains of white asparagus and southern smilax. Ropes of white flowers divided the family seats from the body of the church. The altar is a mass of white roses. A white carpet was spread in the chancel, and giant palms and white oleanders sprung from this snowy ground, making a unique and lovely setting for the bridal party.

All the ushers—of whom there were eight—are New York friends and chums of the groom, Miss Dorothy Whitney, the groom's sister, and Miss Alice Hay, sister of Miss Helen, attended the bride. They wore white and carried bouquets of white orchids.

The bride herself was gowned in heavy white satin. A tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms, covered her head. Her attire, while rich, was unusually simple for so large and fine a wedding.

Plan Honeymoon Tour
This happy event, which terminates a most romantic courtship, will be followed by a honeymoon tour which the young bridegroom has ingeniously and capably planned. The bridal couple without waiting for the social events which follow the ceremony, departed at once for Thomaston, Ga., in Colonel Payne's magnificent home in that romantic region of sunny Dixie, to return in April to Washington for a short visit to the parents of the bride.

Then the happy pair will sail for Europe and proceed to Cannes, where they will board the beautiful yacht, given as a present to Mr. Whitney by his uncle, and the months of the summer will be whiled away cruising in the Mediterranean to whatever ports fancy or whim may carry them.

Shipments to East Only Slightly Lower Than Last Year—Orange Trade Promising.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 6.—Shipments of citrus fruits from southern California since the season opened on November 1 to eastern markets number 5,310 carloads, of these 484 carloads were lemons. Last year the carloads were 6,535.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS KILLED.

Seven Members of a Company of the Ninth Infantry Killed in Samar. Victoria, B. C., Feb. 6.—Manila papers brought by the steamship Empress of China contain particulars of the recent attack by bolomen on a company of the Ninth Infantry in Samar, which resulted in the death of seven of the eighteen men attacked and the wounding of eight others.

The detachment from Company E was struggling through a thicket near Dapdap Pueblo, when a large band of bolomen rushed on the Americans. A bloody hand-to-hand combat ensued. The soldiers clubbed their rifles and, standing back to back, swung them at the heads of the enemy. Several eventually managed to bring their rifles into play, and the bolomen fell away, leaving the small force of Americans with only four men not wounded. The bolomen lost heavily.

A detachment of native soldiers, attracted by the sound of the firing, hurried to the scene, but arrived too late to take part in the combat. It is believed that the unexpected arrival of these reinforcements caused the bolomen to retreat, thereby saving the detachment from annihilation.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 6.—Wealth aggregating about $600,000,000 was represented by thirty-seven men who sat at dinner in P. A. B. Widener's magnificent palace at Elkins station last evening. The dinner was given by the Philadelphia magnate to J. Pierpont Morgan. The guests came from New York, Chicago, London and this city, men of affairs and fortunes, making a gathering the like of which was never known before in this or any other country.

About the feast itself, the things that were set before these money gods, much secrecy was observed, but it is known that every corner of the country was hunted for the rarest viands, cost, of course, not being considered. And this banquet, costing a fortune, was the outcome of the expression by Mr. Morgan of a simple

FISHER TALKS TO THE FARMERS

Janesville Man's Speech at Madison, on Leaf Tobacco.

ADDRESS BY HOARD

Governor La Follette Was Ill, and Could Not Be Present at Meeting.

DISCUSS MANY TOPICS

Madison, Wis., Feb. 6.—Governor La Follette did not address the joint meeting of agriculturists here last evening, as he was advertised to do. He sent word by his private secretary that he was suffering from a severe cold, which made it impossible for him to fulfill his engagement. Dean W. A. Henry of the college of agriculture of the state university was substituted for him. Former Governor W. D. Hoard of Fort Atkinson was one of the principal speakers last evening.

Dean Henry told of his recent visit to Holland and Denmark and compared the farmers of those countries with agriculturists of Wisconsin. He commended the remarkable thrift and intelligence of the Dutch farmers. The Badger farmers, he thought, could learn many things of value from them, especially in the dairy industry. The address was exceedingly interesting.

Dignity of Agriculture

Former Governor Hoard talked of the nobility and dignity of agriculture. "There exists today among some people of education and culture," he said, "a contempt for what they are pleased to call the hayseed, the country clodhopper." He roundly scored such insane derision. The agricultural population, he declared, was the bulwark of the nation.

He referred to the fight he has been making at Washington for the passage of the oleomargarine bill and said that despite the greed of combined wealth congress would listen to the voice of the farmers. The voters of the country were worth more in the estimation of congress than all the money in the world. The farmer, he said, stood for righteousness and justice and could defy all the combinations of wealth and power in existence.

He spoke of the sturdy character of the common people and believed the peace and prosperity of the nation would ever be safe in their hands. The speaker told a number of amusing stories during his address.

Address by Supt. Harvey

Music by the Short Course band, songs by the Short Course students and recitations by Miss Whitmore of Center, Rock county, made a pleasing prelude to the addresses.

The feature of the afternoon session of the agricultural experiment association was an address by State Superintendent L. D. Harvey on "Agricultural Education." He said that 98 per cent. of the children of the rural communities received no higher education than that afforded by the district schools. As success in life depended largely on the amount of scientific knowledge one possesses, he believed every effort should be made to afford children of rural communities every facility possible for equipping them for their life work. When parents could be shown the practical value of giving their children proper educations, he said, it would be an easy matter to furnish the facilities for it.

The state is to pay one-half of the cost of these schools, providing the sum each receives shall not exceed $2.50 per year. He said he was daily receiving letters from persons in the North Central states asking what Wisconsin was doing in the way of furnishing agricultural education in rural communities. There has never been such a widespread interest manifested in this subject. He said that it was the duty of the young men of the association to help spread interest in this subject, to the end that instruction in agriculture and domestic science be had in every county.

VALUE OF HEALTH TO THE STATE; DR. W. P. ROBERTS ON VACCINATION

The Janesville Physician of Some Fame as a Consumptive Specialist, Answers Dr. Whiting's Letter—He is Opposed to Vaccination.

To the Editor of The Janesville Gazette:—I have just been reading Dr. Joe Whiting's vaccination article in your issue of Feb. 4th, inst. It would be derelict of my duty to humanity, were I to keep silent, or neglect to let in more light upon so great and important health problem. I have chosen the above headlines because every child born has an undetermined value to the commonwealth, and because none will dispute the fact that health is the greatest blessing vouchsafed to humanity.

No one is so wise as to undertake to compute the undetermined value of an infant's life, but it is possible to make a conservative estimate of the value of the life of an adult in health to a community, state or nation. Already such estimates have been made thus, viz:

The average artisan, whether a wood-chopper or superintendent of some manufacturing plant has an equal value in the building up, and promoting the welfare of the commonwealth; to a steam engine of manufacturing plant costing $10,000 and earning a profit of 10 per cent., or an average of $600 per annum to the growth and prosperity of the state. Using these figures as a basis let us proceed to take up two great health calamities in the commonwealth and without prejudice or vindictiveness toward any who now disagree with the minority in these great health propositions, reason together, and if possible determine upon better methods of preventing dangerous contagious diseases, not only small-pox, which is the most filthy one of all, but the least destructive to life, but the chronic contagious one, we commonly call consumption—which is three times more killing than all four of the worst acute contagious diseases, small-pox, diphtheria, scarlet and typhoid fevers.

Taking the latest reports from the state board of health we learn that there were in 1901, 4,415 cases of small-pox with 22 deaths; scarlet fever 2,034 cases and 53 deaths; diphtheria 1,304 cases with 191 deaths. A total of 8,697 cases of these acute diseases resulting in 396 deaths from these four acute calamity diseases.

But not one word for or against the old "white plague," or chronic contagious disease (consumption) during that time. However, we do have records for the preceding year, 1900. On pages 22 and 23 of the last published report we quote: "There were reported 1,147 deaths from consumption in 1900. This is only a proportion of the deaths that occurred, as our vital statistics concerning this disease as well as others, except the first four diseases named. Until our vital statistics do show that with the inadequate facilities of collecting data of the great destruction of human lives they were able to collect enough to show that three times as many lives were destroyed by that one, and most neglected one, as were destroyed by the others. Now this greatest of all life destroyers (consumption) they declare to be contagious, and in some places efforts are being made to quarantine its victims.

If we consider that the majority of the victims of consumption are taken from our artisans, who are so valuable to the prosperity of the commonwealth, we naturally ought to conclude that we best devote fully as much effort to preventing its destructiveness as we do to prevent the others.

With these remarks let us now add a few statistics to those already given us by one so eminent to compile figures as is Dr. Joe Whiting. No doubt that his views backed by the data he gives will carry much weight. I am well aware that in undertaking to enlighten the people on this great proposition that I am in the minority, even amongst the medical profession, who hold diplomas from the same school of medicine as mine.

But "truth crushed to earth" will rise in spite of those who, without having investigated do the truth crushing. I have not the least objection to anyone being vaccinated, thinking it will protect them from contracting small-pox, any more than I do to young unsophisticated converts to any religious creed being baptized in conformity with the tenets of the church to which they are uniting.

I believe that after investigating, the individual ought simply to satisfy his own conscience either in baptism, also in vaccination. As for myself I would rather be one of enough to submit myself as a prover of Koch's theory, to positively prove whether he is right, or wrong, than to take chances of being made a cripple for life or to lose my life by vaccination.

My reasons are founded on personal experiences and published records. Since Dr. Whiting has quoted from familiar records I will be pardoned if I quote figures compiled from vital statistics gathered from the same dates and localities of the epidemic of 1885.

I had up to 1883 been with the great majority of the medical profession a pro-vaccinationist. During the epidemic which disturbed Chicago in 1883, I became aroused to the fact that vaccination did not prevent small-pox in a patient who had been several times vaccinated leaving its well-defined marks. The patient was about thirty years of age the mother of three young children none of whom had been vaccinated.

In 1882, we learned for the first time that a product taken from the Equine (Horse) that had been tested by a few scientists and so far as used given the most satisfactory results as a prophylactic and curative remedy for small-pox. Since my patient showed that vaccination had not proved a protection to her against taking small-pox.

I resolved that I would be justified in trying the new equine remedy, to protect the three young children who were quarantined in a small three room cottage, with their very sick mother. I did use the remedy by having each child take a minimum dose of the Equine remedy daily. I also used it in treating the mother. The very satisfactory results then obtained.

What seems the strangest of all to me is that when these periodical epidemics of small-pox come along, that the foremost advocates of antitoxin in the diphtheria proposition neglect, or ignore the Equine remedy in the prevention of small-pox. If I were in a position of a health officer, especially acting as Secretary of any state board of health, I would surely recommend testing the Equine remedy along side of the old fossil unreliable Bovine product. In other words give the noble horse a chance to show the effect of his grease heels in the protecting business.

I have already offered my services to our board of health to superintend the Equine preventive, taken every alternative town, city or county, and teaching the exposed victims of small-pox how to use the Equine while the official vaccinator takes the other places and uses the vaccination method. Then when the epidemic is past to compare results, thus have something more tangible ready for the next epidemic which will surely come along regardless the imperial vaccinator, who seems to delight in frightening the unprotected inhabitants.

THE CONSUMPTIVE'S APPEAL.

Loss of health and earthly pleasures, Invalid I'm left forlorn;
To increase the doctor's treasures Such experiments I've borne.
Look! behold those patent nostrums— One by one they've all been tried;
Yet for lack of a simple science I am drifting with the tide.

As I cast my eyes about me Many thousands I behold,
Struggling with this dread consumption That is slaying young and old.
Still in thought as free as ever, What this demon's rights, I ask?
Me from my good health to sever Me to torture, rack and blast.

Is there, as our preachers tell us, Is there One who relies on high;
Will he stop this dread bacillus From his mighty throne on high?
Or can earthly health, boards and him, Will our present state board try?
Or unyielding, let us suffer, While each year two thousand die?

Wingate, dare to do your duty! Turn ye round to our call;
Invalids need the protection Of the state board's judgment hall.
Give us place above the cattle, Help to save us ere we're slain;
Free us to renew life's battle, Shout for freedom once again!

Health-protectors be kind-hearted; We appeal to one and all.
We have been so long neglected, Long you've failed to hear our call.
Come with science, slay bacillus! Dread consumption, thou shalt go,
And we all will shout Hosanna, As to health and strength we grow.

THAT MORTGAGE!

Old man, young man, if there is a mortgage on your farm, get out of the rut, shake off the dust and go to work. Sit down on a dry goods box at the corner grocery and talk 16 to 1. Take hold of the other end of a hoe handle and make 16 potatoes or 16 bushels of grain or 16 dollars where you usually made but one. Turn over everything that has a nickle under it. Don't patronize 10c shows, circuses, theaters, etc.; don't smoke cigars or visit drinking saloons. These institutions do not go hand in hand with a mortgage. I never knew a mortgagee to get drunk. You may play with a fiddle or a month organ, but you can't play with a mortgage; if you do you will soon play out and don't you forget it! Mortgagees don't go to sleep, they work all the time, cold or hot, wet or dry, rain or shine, on Sundays, the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, they sleep they work. You may die, your wife may die, but if you don't pay the mortgage, your children will be turned out or they will have to pay it. I have often persons say what they were going to do tomorrow or the next day or next week or next year, and that time never came.

Don't sit idle and look for something to turn up. Take hold yourself of anything that you can honestly get a dollar out of and when you get it don't put it in your pocket; it will burn a hole and come out. Don't go to town unless you have something to sell and then have it just a little better than anyone else; if eggs, strictly fresh; if chickens, plump and fat; if potatoes, clean and smooth. Give full weights and measure and demand the same. Don't be ashamed to work; it will do you good, it will help your family, it will help your merchant; it will help your country. If it rains mend your harness or tools, saw wood, do something. Don't buy anything because it's cheap; nothing is cheap that you can possibly get along without. Pay as you go or don't go. Don't starve your family or animals; give them plenty of good, wholesome food; if you haven't got it, go to work and make it.—(M. E. Morris, Florence Co., S. C.)

MR. NEIL BURGESS MAKES A BIG HIT

A Large Audience Was Very Much Pleased at the Myers Grand Last Evening

"The County Fair" is just what the program calls it—"A picture of New England life." It is one of the most natural pictures ever presented to theatre-goers, and for its presentation in such form, all credit is due to Mr. Neil Burgess, the incentive comedian who is as well a mechanic of considerable merit. The production was seen at the Myers Grand last night by a large audience with Mr. Burgess in the title role, as "Abigail Price," the kind hearted spinster, no better attraction will be seen this season.

"The County Fair" gives a series of quaint and life-like pictures of New England farm life which is altogether delightful. As a piece of genuine and life-like character painting Mr. Burgess "Abigail" can justly take rank with the "Rip Van Winkle" of Joseph Jefferson, also the "Joshua Whitcomb" of Denman Thompson, and in many respects it exceeds these famous roles. The play abounds with so many humorous situations that it is impossible to say which excites the most. It also contains all sorts of mechanical work, and the introduction of a huskiness, and several horses—all lend a reality to the scenes. The play is well acted throughout, and better than all, it is pure and clean. The religious old man and the pure maiden are equally pleased. It appeals to the heart, not the passions.

Owing to a delay of the train on which the company arrived it was 9:30 o'clock before the first act began. But the ingenious manager allowed the audience to see the first act set on the stage and it was a treat.

The Howard-Dorset company will be the attraction at the Myers Grand again this evening, and will present one of their best plays—"Linwood." The company have given splendid satisfaction in their two previous plays and the audiences have been more than pleased. The pictures and specialties given are very good.

"When were you 21" will be seen at the Myers Grand on Monday, Feb. 17. It is a pure clean story, clever in its arrangement, interesting in its developments and most pleasing in its conclusions. It is well calculated to receive that attention and approval at the hands of the theatergoers that is so justly deserving. One seldom witnesses a more evenly balanced company than the one in charge of the presentation of "When We Were 21."

Incidentally, to sing the "Belle of New York" properly the services of a good singing company is necessary, not only the principals, but the chorus, too, must be capable. It is a frightful to contemplate the effect of an inferior chorus shouting the finale of the first act, with its unique and harmonious counter melody. "Beautiful," remarked a well known musical critic in San Francisco, during the "Belle's" recent engagement in that city; "but it makes me shudder to think what would happen if the chorus were not thoroughly competent." It comes to the Myers on Feb. 11.

Nothing Tastes Good
And eating is simply perfunctory—done because it must be.

This is the common complaint of the dyspeptic.

If eating sparingly would cure dyspepsia, few would suffer from it long.

The only way to cure dyspepsia, which is difficult digestion, is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system.

THE AX of toughest steel becomes dulled by constant use and must have a new edge if it is to do good work. Constant work dulls a man as it does an ax, makes him sluggish of body and dull of mind. He needs a tonic, something that will restore the keenness of mind and activity of body.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery puts new life into weak, worn-out, run-down men and women. It strengthens the weak stomach, purifies the blood, and effectively stimulates the liver. The whole body is built up with sound, solid flesh by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I was confined to my bed for four months from January 1st, 1899, and commenced to take your medicine January 26th, 1899," writes Mrs. Sallie L. Sheppard, of Poplarville, Mo. "I took eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, four of your Favorite Prescription, two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets,' and one bottle of Doctor Pierce's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, as a Liniment. Indigestion, obstinate constipation, and hardening of the liver was my trouble. I am at this time able to do almost any kind of house work. Your medicine saved me from my grave. Thanks to you for the benefit. My case was hopeless when I began taking your medicine."

Don't be fooled into trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery," is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery," which no "just as good" medicine can show. Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

WILL PROTECT FISH AND GAME

Movement That Concerns Sportsmen Who Go to Koshkonong.

NEW GAME LEAGUE

Some Fort Atkinson Business Men Have Formed a Strong Organization.

THE LAW IS VIOLATED

A movement that concerns all sportsmen who go to Lake Koshkonong, was inaugurated in January when, at a meeting held in Fort Atkinson, steps were taken to organize what is known as the Koshkonong Fish and Game League. The purpose of the organization is to protect the fish and game and song birds of Wisconsin, through the enforcement of laws of this state and the securing of new legislation when it is necessary.

At this meeting officers were elected as follows: President, C. A. Snover; vice president, Dan Stocking; secretary, Henry P. Pettit; treasurer, C. H. Aspinwall. These officers were chosen from among the prominent business men of Fort Atkinson, and can be taken as a guarantee that those interested in the preservation of the fish and game of Koshkonong waters will see that the laws are strictly enforced.

In addition to the officers named, the plan of organization is to appoint a vigilance committee, consisting of five members, who will work in secret to secure evidence to aid the state warden and his deputies to obtain convictions of all violations. Every member of the organization is obliged to subscribe to the constitution and by-laws of the organization, which pledge him to report to the vigilance committee any and all violations of the fish and game laws.

To Prevent Violations of Law. Members of the Black Hawk club, one of the oldest hunting and fishing clubs in the state, are interested in this movement and an earnest effort and effective means will be adopted to secure the conviction of all violations of the fish and game laws. In speaking about the organization one of the projectors said:

"Lake Koshkonong is known as one of the best breeding grounds for ducks in the state. In the past it has also been a favorite fishing resort for bass, pike and pickerel. Owing to the wanton violation of the fish and game laws, both shooting and fishing has been destroyed to a great extent. They propose of the members of this society is to put an end to further unlawful hunting and fishing. While the present laws are adequate, so far as prescribing punishment for violations is concerned, our purpose is to co-operate with the fish and game wardens, in order to secure convictions.

Over the Entire State. "The organization of this society is only one step in the general plan to have branch societies all over the hunting and fishing grounds of Wisconsin, so that the laws can be more vigorously enforced. At present, the purpose of the society will be to confine its efforts to protect Koshkonong waters, but as soon as possible the members will extend their work to take in the entire state.

"We intend to take into our membership all those who come to Koshkonong to hunt and fish, whether they are members of a club or not."

An Interested Hunter. On the subject, has the following to say:

"Having hunted and fished in this state for more than thirty years, I feel a somewhat natural interest in this subject. I can remember when the first flocks of canvasback ducks made their appearance upon Lake Koshkonong, and while that noble game bird steadily increased in numbers for a number of years, many other varieties are in danger of utter extinction and the pot-hunters and market shovellers have done their best to exterminate all kinds of game birds, as well as the large game of the state.

"Several times within the last ten years a more or less energetic effort has been made to enforce the law at Lake Koshkonong by sending deputy game wardens to apprehend violators, but the effort has been spasmodic only, and while many arrests and convictions have been made, the matter has been followed up so as to be productive of much permanent benefit.

"The same condition of things exists as to the fish. Lake Koshkonong is not only the fresh-water home of the canvasback but it is the natural breeding ground for all of our native fish, and in spite of the reckless use of this great food supply, good catches of black bass, pickerel and pike are quite common to this day.

Koshkonong Was Exempted. "For some unknown reason Lake Koshkonong was exempted from the operation if the fish laws, making a close season for game fish. This should be corrected, and fishing through the ice should be absolutely prohibited. The pursuit of ducks and other water fowl in open water should be forbidden, in order that the birds might have a place to rest and feed undisturbed. Then, if the laws were strictly enforced, Lake Koshkonong would again become not only an ideal spot for the sportsman but also a great food warehouse for "It is no secret that for more than twenty-five years past there have been shipped from Lake Koshkonong many tons of fish every winter; nearly all of them caught through the ice by unlawful means, and the wonder is that a game fish still remains within its waters.

"All the fish and game laws depend for their value upon public opinion, and it is good to see the people of Fort Atkinson and other cities and towns in the vicinity of Lake Koshkonong waking up to the fact that not only good citizenship, but their own interests, demand the enforcement of the fish and game laws."

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectively set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. G. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr. Houlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by People's Drug Store and King's Pharmacy.

A HERO OF SIXTY-ONE

COLONEL MULLIGAN'S TEN DAYS' DEFENSE OF LEXINGTON, MO.

Attacked With Odds of Three to One in Men and Guns—Gallant Deeds of the Irish Brigade—Beaten at Last by Confederate Heavy Artillery.

[Copyright, 1901, by G. L. Kilmer.]

OW and then a hero did forge to the front in the civil war and by putting an extinguisher upon the dazzling flashlights of 1863 he may be seen through the glass of memory. Major Anderson fought two days at Fort Sumter, then surrendered to save being burned or starved out. Major Slemmer held the fort at Pensacola until he was re-enforced. Some of the Federal officers in Texas surrendered, and some of the men marched north through the wilderness to stand by the old flag. Colonel James A. Mulligan fought for ten days in the trenches at Lexington, Mo., then surrendered because his men had no water, no bread and no cartridges. The following interesting story of the siege was told by himself, and it is true. Three years later he died like a hero at the battle of Winchester.

"On the night of the 30th of August, 1861," said Colonel Mulligan, "as the 'Irish brigade' (Twenty-third Illinois) lay at Jefferson, Mo., I received orders to go out my way through the enemy, go to Lexington and hold it at all hazards. Next morning the brigade started with 40 rounds of ammunition and three days' rations. We marched nine days without meeting the enemy, foraging upon the country for support. The trouble was not so much in getting into Lexington as in getting out. We found there Colonel Marshall's cavalry regiment and 350 home guards. Colonel Peabody joined us Sept. 10, with the Thirtieth Missouri. He came into the trenches with General Sterling Price and 10,000 Confederates at his heels.

"I took command of the defense. We mustered 2,750 men, with seven 6 pounders and 40 rounds of rifle cartridges, with but few rations. The enemy had five batteries, numbering 10 guns. We commenced throwing up intrenchments on College hill, an eminence overlooking Lexington and the broad Missouri. All day the 11th our men worked with pick and shovel. That evening our pickets were driven in. We waited until the morning of the 12th, vigilant and without sleep, and then a messenger rushed in, saying, 'Colonel, the enemy is pushing across the bridge in overwhelming force.' With a glass we could see them as they came, General Price riding up and down the lines urging his men. Two companies of the Thirtieth Missouri, with Company K of the Irish brigade, drove the enemy back and burned the bridge.

"The enemy now made a detour and approached the town on the Independence road. Six companies of the Missourians and the cavalry met them in Lexington cemetery, and the fight raged furiously over the dead. We succeeded in keeping the enemy in check and meanwhile had thrown up intrenchments three or four feet high. At 3 o'clock the engagement opened with artillery. The contest raged half an hour, when a lucky shot knocked over the enemy's big gun and exploded a powder wagon. The fight continued until dusk, and as the moon arose the enemy retired to camp, two miles away, and Lexington was our own again.

"On Friday, the 13th, it rained all day, and the men stood knee deep in mud building intrenchments. A quantity of powder was obtained, and our cisterns were filled with water. The men made cartridges and cast 150 rounds of shot for the guns. All this time our pickets were engaged with the enemy. On the night of the 17th we heard sounds of preparation for attack in the enemy's camp.

"At 9 o'clock the 18th the drums beat to arms, and the terrible struggle commenced. The enemy's forces had been increased to 18,000 men. They came on in one dark, moving mass. They planted two batteries in front, one on the left, one on the right and one in the rear and opened with a terrible fire. Our spies informed us that the enemy intended to make one grand rout and bury us all in the trenches of Lexington. The batteries opened at 9 o'clock and for three days never ceased to pour deadly shot upon us. About noon our hospital was taken. It was outside the intrenchments. I had taken it for granted that it was not necessary to build fortifications around the sick man's couch. But I was inexperienced. They besieged the hospital, took it, and from the balcony poured a deadly fire into our intrenchments.

"The hospital contained our chaplain, surgeon and 120 wounded. It could not be allowed to remain in the possession of the enemy. Two companies of Missourians were ordered in turn to retake the hospital, but both refused. The Montgomery guards, Captain Gleason, of the Irish brigade, were then ordered in. The commander, with a brief exhortation to uphold the historic name they bore, gave the word to charge. The distance was 800 yards. They started, first quick, then double quick, then on a run, then faster. The enemy poured a deadly shower of bullets upon them, but on they went up the slope to the hospital door and, with irresistible bravery, drove the enemy before them. The hospital was retaken. Captain

Gleason was shot through the arm and through the face.

"Toward evening word came from the enemy that if the whole garrison did not surrender before next day they would hoist the black flag and give no quarter. We told them when we asked for quarter it would be time to settle that. We were in a terrible situation. The men caught rainwater in their blankets and rung it out into their canteens for drinking purposes. Our surgeon was held by the enemy against all the usages of war. Captain Moriarty went to the hospital and, with nothing but a razor, acted as surgeon.

"On the morning of the 19th the firing was resumed and continued all day. The day was signalized by a fierce bayonet charge upon a regiment of the enemy which showed them that our men were not completely worried out. The officers had told them to hold out until the 19th, when they would certainly be re-enforced. Through that day our little garrison stood with straining eyes, watching to see if some friendly flag was bearing aid to them, with straining ear awaiting the sound of a friendly cannonade. But no reinforcements appeared, and with the energy of despair they determined to do their duty at all hazards. The 19th was a horrid day. Our water cisterns had been drained, and we dare not leave the crown of the hill and make our intrenchments on the bank of the river, for the enemy could plant his cannon on the hill and bury us. The day was burning hot, and as the men bit their cartridges their lips were parched and blistered. But not a word of murmuring. That night two wells were ordered dug. We took two ravines and expected to reach water in about 30 hours. During the night I passed around the field, smoothed back the clotted hair and by the light of the moon shining through the trees recognized here and there the countenances of my brave men who had fallen. Some were my favorites in the days gone past who had stood by me in those hours of terror and fallen on the field. Sadly we buried them in the trenches.

"The morning of the 20th broke, but no reinforcements appeared. Still the men fought on. The enemy had constructed movable breastworks of hemp bales, rolled them up the hill and advanced their batteries in a manner to command our fortifications. Heated shots were fired at them, but they had taken the precaution to soak the bales in the Missouri. The attack was urged with new vigor, and during the forenoon the outer breastworks were taken by a charge. The whole line was broken, and the enemy rushed in upon us.

"Captain Fitzgerald, whom I had known in my younger days, and whom we called by the familiar name of 'Saxy,' was then ordered to oppose his company to the assaults. As I gave the order, 'Saxy, go in,' the gallant fellow, at the head of Company I, with a wild yell rushed upon the enemy. The firing suddenly ceased, and when the smoke arose from the field I saw the Michigan company, under its gallant commander, Captain McDermott, also charging the enemy and driving them back.

"Many of our good fellows were lying dead, our cartridges had fallen and it was evident the fight would soon cease. It was now 3 o'clock, and all on a sudden an orderly came saying that the enemy had sent in a flag of truce. With the flag came the following note from General Price: 'Colonel: What has caused the cessation of the fight?'

"I returned it with the following message written on the back:

"I hardly know, unless you have surrendered. He took pains to assure me that was not the case. I learned soon after that that our Home Guard had hoisted a white flag. The lieutenant who had hoisted the flag was threatened with instant death unless he hauled it down. At that one of the officers exclaimed, 'This is butchery!'

"The conviction became general and a council of war was held. The place was given up and the enemy came pouring in. We were placed in file and led through the streets of Lexington. As we passed the ladies came from the houses and jeered us. We (the officers) were then taken to a hotel with no proprietor and no rations. After we had boarded there for some time we started for 'the land of Dixie.'

Thus ends Colonel Mulligan's story. When he and his field officers offered up their swords, General Price said: 'You gentlemen have fought so bravely it would be wrong to deprive you of your swords. Keep them.'

After his exchange Mulligan returned to service in the Shenandoah valley. He fell at Winchester with three mortal wounds. Some of his officers attempted to carry him from the field, but he stopped them, saying, 'Lay me down and save the flag.' After obeying his command they returned and carried him to the surgeon.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

A Relic of Majuba Hill

A remarkable story is current with regard to General Sir Ian Hamilton's spectacles. It appears that the gallant officer, then a subaltern, lost a pair of spectacles in the battle of Majuba Hill. They were apparently picked up by a Boer whom they suited, and who kept them for twenty years. In the early part of the present year the spectacles were found on the body of a dead Boer. There could be no doubt as to their identity, for the case had General Hamilton's name on it, and they were in due course returned to their original owner.

Aged Emperor Enjoys Hunting.

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, although the second oldest monarch of Europe, is still much devoted to hunting and a climb of two or three hours in his Tyrolean costume is not too much for him. Between the years of 1856 and 1897 he killed in his various domains 1,243 deer, 1,730 chamois and much other game. He is particularly fond of Ottensee, where he spends the night in a cabin and early in the morning the game is driven in his direction.

Peasants Fear Astronomers.

The arrival of a band of Russian astronomers at Tomsk, in Siberia, where they are about to establish an observatory, has caused an outburst of hostility among the peasants in the neighborhood. The natives are convinced that the astronomers will gather the stars together in a bag and take them away, thus causing droughts, since the rain, they believe, comes from the stars.

AN IDEAL MEDICINE.

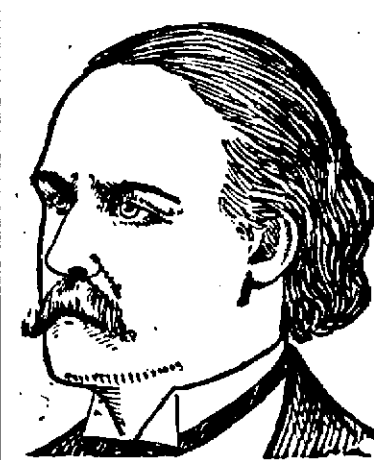

A New Discovery Which Cures All Forms of Catarrh.

The tablets in the ideal form in until recently no successful catarrh tablet had ever been attempted. There is now, however, an excellent and palatable remedy for catarrh in tablet form, known as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and sold by druggists, composed of the most recent discoveries in medicine for cure of catarrh and results from their use have been highly gratifying.

The old time treatment of catarrh was in the form of inhalers, washes, douches, sprays, etc. Later on internal remedies were used with greater success but being in liquid or powder form were inconvenient to use and like all medicines in liquid or powder form, lose their medicinal properties when opened or exposed to the air.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain highly concentrated antiseptics, Red Gum, Blood Root, etc., which kill the catarrh germs in the blood and mucous membrane, and in this respect are strictly scientific and modern, because all authorities are now agreed that catarrh is a constitutional blood disease, and local applications can have only a transitory effect.

The use of inhalers, douches, and sprays is a nuisance and inconvenience and can in no wise compare favorably with the same antiseptics given in tablet form internally, where they can reach the stomach and blood and kill catarrh germs right where they are produced.

A prominent lawyer and public speaker of Pittsburgh says: "I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for twelve years. In this climate it seems impossible to get rid of it. The continual dripping of mucus from the nose into the throat caused irritation and hoarseness, seriously interfering with my public speaking. It took me an hour or more of coughing, gagging, expectorating and sneezing every morning before I could settle down to work and this condition gradually brought on catarrh of stomach, causing loss of appetite, poor digestion and a foul breath, which annoyed me exceedingly. My physician advised me to try Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and I took them for two months and was astonished to find how quickly they cleared my head, throat and stomach and I have no hesitation in recommending them. They are not only pleasant to take, but they seem to get at the very root of the trouble, because since using them I have had no trace of catarrh."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50 cents for full sized package.

They can be carried in the pocket and used any time and as often as desired since they contain no cocaine, mercury or any other injurious drug.

NICHOLAS BERGER FULL OF GREAT JOY

Blind Boy Operated Upon By Dr. Thorne—Prospects are That He Will Be Able to See.

Nicholas Berger, an inmate of the Wisconsin State School for the Blind, after spending his life from the time he was an infant up to twenty-one years in darkness, will be able to see. The recovery of his sight is due to an operation performed by Dr. Jas. J. Thorne of this city on Monday last. Berger comes from Anawa, Wis., and has several brothers and sisters that are also blind, one of them having graduated from the Wisconsin school. His mother is insane and confined in the asylum at Mendota. His father married again and raised other children by his second wife that are also affected with blindness.

Berger was brought to Dr. Thorne last week for examination and after a careful study of the case the doctor decided that he could restore his sight.

Last Monday he was taken to the Palmer hospital and had the obstruction to his vision, a cataract of the right eye covering the entire eyeball, removed. The operation was highly successful and today when the doctor dressed the eye the young man was overjoyed when for the first time he was able to distinguish things.

He said to the doctor "I can see your hair and beard and face and your shirt and I can see the nurse and the thing she has pinned on her waist, (which was her watch), also her face and hair."

Dr. Thorne says there is little doubt but that Berger's sight can be restored so he can follow any ordinary occupation and in all probability will be able to read. He will have good distance vision. The doctor will operate on the left eye in the near future and thinks there will be no question about the operation being equally successful.

Berger said his parents told him he could see some when an infant but an attack of scarlet fever left him totally blind, the cataracts forming over the sight since that time he has been unable to see and has been an inmate of the state school for some years.

The joy of the young man at being able to see can be better imagined than described. While he knew the shape of many things from his school training and from feeling them, the sight of them is very strange to him and he asks what they are called.

It is a remarkable case for the reason that it has run so long and it is seldom that a cure is effected after so long a time has elapsed.

EFFORTS TO KEEP IT OUT OF THE PAPER

The practice of keeping things out of the paper makes it very difficult for a daily newspaper to do its duty and give all the news, says an exchange. There are interested parties ready to throw themselves into the breach of every important occurrence and importune the newspaper not to publish the facts. There is hardly a week in the year when the newspapers of every city are not called upon to suppress some news items and sometimes it happens several times a week.

Many will even ask and expect an item of news to be suppressed when the whole community is already talking about it. They will ask the editors and publishers not to mention a certain occurrence, when, as a matter of fact, its publication would harm no one. If the paper declines to leave out the item the applicant becomes very indignant; if it yields and a contemporary later publishes the news it never occurs to the gentleman that he has injured the legitimate business of the paper, and that he ought to apologize and do so no more. On the contrary, when a local newspaper leaves out an item which appears later in an out-of-town journal, the very men who ask for its suppression are the very first to say: "You must read such and such papers to get the news."

Did it ever occur to the men who request a newspaper to not publish a certain item that it would be just as reasonable to ask a merchant not to make a certain sale? You are asking the newspaper to omit its most attractive feature and to become tedious and perhaps tiresome merely for your own benefit. Possibly you may have business relations with the newspapers. That certainly gives you no right to make exactions which amount to the same thing as if some one demanded that you dispense with the most desirable part of your business.

The newspapers get tired and sick of being importuned to keep things out. The reporters get discouraged and newspaper readers, hearing of something which ought to have appeared on time, derogatory remarks at the apparent lack of enterprise manifest by the journal that has been worked and imposed upon.—Quincy Herald.

HEAD END MIX-UP ON ST. PAUL ROAD

A Switch Engine and a Heavy Freight Collided Near Round House Yesterday.

A head-end collision that might have resulted in a bad wreck occurred on the St. Paul road near the round house yesterday. The engine of a heavy freight going east collided with the switch engine coming west. It was a fortunate thing that the engineers saw they were going to strike or they would have had a bad mix-up.

As it was both shut off and applied the air brakes, so that the only damage done was to the switch engine which had its running board knocked off and the front end stove in. Alex. Johns, engineer and Fireman Murphy of the switch engine jumped off when they saw they were going to strike and escaped injury.

The switch engine was taken to the shops for repairs.

Quite a bad mix-up occurred in the lower end of the Northwestern yards early this morning. Six cars were dinged and several hundred dollars' damage done to the cars outside the damage to the freight.

The accident is supposed to have been caused by a sharp flange on a wheel to a Wabash car which cut through the switch joint and dinged the cars following it. The wreck was soon cleared up so that traffic was not interrupted.

Both roads are so loaded down with freight business just at present that all the side tracks are in use and it is a wonder that more accidents do not occur. The freight traffic in this city last year of cars received and cars sent out would average over 1,100 cars a month, besides the immense number that were going through here at all hours of the day and night. Janesville has been fortunate in having had no bad wrecks in its immediate vicinity in a long time.

We, the members of the polo team known as the Taylors of Janesville, wish to state that we have persuaded Mr. Taylor to open the rink for a game with the Horlicks on Friday night of this week. We believe that the public will appreciate another game between ourselves and the Racine team. We did not want the season to pass without one more go with the Horlicks and feel confident we will make a showing that will be a credit to us for we expect to win.

HAD ON GOWN OF WHITE GRENADINE

Miss Rosa Locke and Mr. William Florin Married—How They Escaped Friends with Rice.

On Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Locke, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Rosa and William Florin, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. R. C. Denison of the Congregational church.

The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of white grenadine and carried a bouquet of white roses. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the parents of the bride and groom, Adin, brother of the bride, Tillie, sister of the groom; Dr. and Mrs. Edden and Mabel Sanborn.

After the congratulations all were invited to partake of a sumptuous supper. The dining room and table were beautifully decorated with carnations, smilax and ferns, while pink ribbons were tastefully draped from the chandelier to the corner of the table.

The bride received many handsome and useful presents.

A joke had been planned on the newly married couple by some of the boys in the neighborhood, the boys intending to keep the bride and groom from leaving the house that evening, but their plans were shattered, for while the "good-nights" were being said and the Rev. and Mrs. Denison were departing, a couple of the bride's lady friends, representing bride and groom, one being attired in an overcoat and hat seated themselves in the carriage with showers of rice from the boys and accompanied the minister and his wife home. The boys kept close behind the carriage with their twelve pounds of rice, all the way to the parsonage and part way back, when on their return they learned that the couple in the carriage were not the bride and groom.

While all this was going on the real bride and groom had made their escape and left town without seeing any of the rice. The boys watched every train until the small hours of the morning, and then being disappointed in not seeing the bride and groom off, returned home utterly disgusted with the night's proceedings.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

WILL SOON VOTE ON OLEO BILL

Two More Days of Debate,
Then the House Will Take Action.

BOUTELL OPPOSES MEASURE.

Chicago Congressman Contends There
Is No Fraud in the Manufacture of the Product and Dishonest Practices
by Retailers Cannot Be Stopped.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The oleomargarine bill will come to a vote after two days more of debate. Agreement to this effect was reached in the House yesterday. One more day will be devoted to general debate and the vote will come after another day spent in debate under the five-minute rule.

Representative Boutell of Chicago delivered the speech that attracted most attention in yesterday's debate. He based his opposition to the bill on alleged discrimination. There is no excuse, in his judgment, for discriminating between different brands of the same product.

It is conceded on all sides that there is no fraud in the manufacture of oleo. Mr. Boutell explained. The only fraud charged is in its retail, when in some instances dishonest dealers sell it for butter. The pending bill, he asserted, would not prevent these frauds.

Representative Crowley of Illinois furnished the House considerable amusement in discussing the bill. He announced emphatically that he would not permit himself to be read out of the Democratic party because he supports the bill, and made an earnest appeal for the wife of the poor farmer churning butter, who, he insisted, should be protected against the product of the oleo manufacturers. Other speakers were Messrs. Klutz (N. C.), McCleary (Minn.) and Eddy (Minn.) for, and Messrs. Allen (Ky.), Scott (Kan.) and Moon (Tenn.) against the bill.

Throughout yesterday's session the Senate had under consideration the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, and just before adjournment passed it substantially in the shape in which it was reported to the Senate by the committee. During the early part of the session the case of Judge Arthur H. Noyes of the District Court of Alaska and Alexander McKenzie and others was discussed. Mr. McChesney of North Dakota delivered an elaborate speech in defense of Judge Noyes and Mr. McKenzie, while Mr. Stewart reviewed the case, speaking strongly against Judge Noyes and his actions in Alaska.

Gov. Taft Explains.

Washington, Feb. 6.—In his statement before the Senate committee on the Philippines yesterday Governor Taft said that, originally, the civil and military control of the islands had been in the hands of the military, and naturally there had been some difference of opinion between the military authorities and the commission as to the method of proceeding. This difference had arisen with General MacArthur and there had been more or less correspondence on the subject. The general had contended that authority over the islands was vested in the military, because the islands were in a state of war. In this view the commission did not concur.

Replying to a question, Governor Taft stated that in the islands there are about 5,000,000 acres of land held by private persons, and that of this 400,000 acres are owned by the Catholic friars. Of these 400,000 acres, 250,000 are the best lands in the islands.

Plans Big Forest Preserve.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Pritchard from the committee on forest reservations yesterday presented a written report on the bill appropriating $5,000,000 for the creation of a national forest reserve in the south Appalachian region, as authorized by the committee several days ago. The report urges the establishment of the reserve for the protection of the timber and the conservation of the waters of the land embraced within its proposed area, placing the damage done by floods arising in that area in the year 1901 at $15,000,000.

Offers Statehood to Cuba.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Representative Newlands of Nevada of the ways and means committee, who was the author of the resolution annexing Hawaii, yesterday introduced a joint resolution inviting the republic of Cuba to become a part of the United States, first as a territory, and then as a state of the Union, to be called the state of Cuba; also authorizing a 25 per cent reduction of duty on the present crop of Cuban sugar, in consideration of Cuba's granting preferential rates to the United States.

Would Place Gunboat on Lakes.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Mason introduced a bill appropriating $800,000 for the construction of a gunboat of 1,500 tons displacement, which when not otherwise employed in the government service shall be used as a training ship for the naval militia of Illinois and other states bordering on the great lakes. The measure "trotly" surmounts the obstacle created by the Rush-Baggett treaty against the use of a war vessel on the great lakes.

Treaties Belong to Senate.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The subcommittee of the Senate committee on foreign relations which has been giving especial attention to the legal aspect of the reciprocity treaties has concluded that the power to make commercial treaties rests with the President and the Senate, and that the fact that they involve questions of tariff does not render it necessary that the House of Representatives should have equal opportunity to consider them.

Church Workers at White House.

Washington, Feb. 6.—After a two days' meeting the conference of the National Federation of Churches and Christian Workers closed yesterday. Following a brief morning session the members of the conference adjourned, and called at the White house, where they had an interview of twenty minutes with President Roosevelt. The president expressed the opinion that one of the largest fields for the federation's work was in the small towns.

To Protect Ambassadors.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The anti-anarchist bill, which will be reported to the House in a day or two, contains a provision giving to foreign ambassadors and ministers accredited to Washington protection against assaults, and punishing with death any such assault which results in the death of a foreign ambassador or minister.

Millers Want Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Nelson yesterday introduced a bill prepared by the National Millers' association, providing for the amendment of the interstate commerce law. It empowers the interstate commerce commission to fix rates for transportation, and abolishes punishment by imprisonment.

Warship Brooklyn Ordered Home.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Orders were sent from the navy department yesterday to Rear Admiral Remey directing that officer to proceed home with his flagship, the Brooklyn, which is now at Hong-Kong. She will probably go to the New York navy yard to be overhauled.

Decide on Appropriations.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The legislative bill, carrying the appropriations for numerous branches of the government service, was completed yesterday by the house committee on appropriations. It carries $25,168,899, or about $500,000 below the estimate.

Will Report Treaty Favorably.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The Senate committee on foreign relations offered a favorable report on the treaty to acquire the Danish West Indies. No amendment was made to the treaty in committee.

Employment in Hop Fields.

The American hop fields employ about 240,000 men, women and children as pickers alone, for there are 72,000,000 hop vines to be stripped, and the crop in a good season is worth $10,000,000.

TELL SECRETS OF DIPLOMACY

Attitude of Europe Before the Spanish-American War Revealed by Germany.

EFFORT TO PREVENT WAR.

Ambassadors at Washington Endeavored to Bring About an Understanding—
Arbitration Was Proposed—British
Statesmen Deny Truth of Berlin Story.

Berlin, Feb. 6.—The foreign office confirms the substantial accuracy of the subjoined statement, which the Kreuz-Zeitung prints, relative to Germany's course toward the United States during the war with Spain. The article was prepared by Prof. Schlemann, professor of history at Berlin university, who enjoys special official sources of information. After a preface quoting the statement made by a British foreign office official Jan. 21 last, it says:

"Almost exactly four years ago the Spanish ambassador here asked Germany whether Germany would lead in action against the United States for the protection of the monarchic principles. The answer was a definite refusal, and the same answer was given a month later, or about the middle of March, when the invitation reached Germany to participate in the intervention undertaken upon the initiative of Austria. This was in the weeks following the sad catastrophe of the Maine, when it was believed intervention would facilitate an understanding between the United States and Spain. Nevertheless, our government commissioned Von Radowitz, the German ambassador to Spain, to inform the Madrid government to prevent the Spanish-American war.

"After that several attempts were made to win Germany, or the French, for intervention, in which the Pope was especially active. The final result was that Dr. von Hohen, German ambassador at Washington, was instructed to join in the step proposed by Austria, only in case all the other five great powers participated.

"We are unable to state the details of how the united action came about. At any rate, the collective note was handed to the officials at Washington April 7, advising a peaceable settlement, and was signed by England, France, Italy, Austria, Russia, and Germany. It was believed for a week that war would be averted. Gen. Blanco received orders from Madrid to offer the Cuban insurgents an armistice, for Spain was resolved to give them far-reaching autonomy and to arrive at a settlement of the Maine question through arbitration. Diplomatic circles, however, entertained no illusions, and when England on April 14, through her ambassador, proposed a new collective note, in which the powers should declare that Europe regarded America's armed intervention in Cuba as unjustifiable, the other ambassadors telegraphed to their home governments asking for instructions.

"The step failed through Germany's positive refusal. This gives, as it appears to us, a picture essentially different from the English legend. A fortnight later war was declared.

"Afterward, in June or July, while the United States was making great progress in the Philippines, England tried to induce the Spanish commission in England to ask for peace proposals, for to no power was the American encroachment in the Pacific any more annoying than to England.

"The above is the historical connection of events. We hope that, in giving the same, we have thoroughly exposed the absurdity of the English legend.

British Officials Deny Story.

London, Feb. 6.—The highest official authority is given for denying the story printed by the Kreuz-Zeitung of Berlin as to the part taken by Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador at Washington, in the Spanish-American war intervention in spite of the confirmation of the story by the German foreign office.

Britain Gives Up Chinese Colony.

There are about 500 deer on Long Island. The law allows them to be hunted on four days during the month of November. PEACE IS FAR AWAY.

Salisbury Gives No Encouragement as Result of Dutch Overtures.

London, Feb. 6.—Lord Salisbury, the premier, unveiled a life-size marble statue of the late Queen Victoria at the Junior Constitutional club last night.

Speaking at a dinner after the unveiling, the premier referred to the recent Dutch note. He said he was unable to imagine the project of the Dutch government, for whose friendly feelings he had the greatest admiration. He could not see the precise object they hoped to gain by this curious step.

"There is no longer a question of sentiment," continued Lord Salisbury. "We have entered upon a matter of business, which we must push through. What we are now seeking is security. Any peace which recognizes fully the rights of the sovereign and gives us security for the empire we should accept, not only with willingness, but with delight."

"It is useless to tell us to behave so as to leave a pleasant recollection in the minds of those with whom we are fighting."

"The only result that can compensate for the sacrifice of blood and treasure is that for the future there shall be security in that part of the empire upon which the ambition of Mr. Kruger has poured this abundance of sorrow and desolation."

"The maintenance of our position in Ireland is the most vital object the empire has, and it can only be attained by strenuous exertions," said the premier.

The premier asked if the Irish people loved the government better than they formerly did, and replied himself that they did not. He said the feelings of hostility which had been expressed were more uncompromising than any expressions which had ever issued from the lips of Parnell or O'Connell. An Irish government with power to accumulate arms and ammunition would constitute a more serious threat than had the Boers. Whilst the orthodox leader of the Liberal party had declared himself in favor of home rule, said the speaker, the semi-orthodox leader of that party, whose utterances were harder to interpret, while he had not pledged himself to home rule, had studiously avoided any pledge from which the contrary might be inferred.

At the end of two years a day's work shall be reduced to eight and one-half hours and at the end of another two years it shall be reduced to eight hours.

RACINE vs. JANESVILLE

The Milwaukee Sunday Sentinel of February 1st, prints the following dispatch sent from Racine:

Horlicks Challenge Polo Teams

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE SENTINEL

RACINE, Wis., Feb. 1.—Nicholas F. Reichert, of the Horlick polo team, of this city, to-day issued a challenge to any team in the United States to play for $200 a side, from 1 to 3 games. The team contains 3 of the youngest rushers in the country, Fritz Reichert, George Olle and William Zirbes.

Although the local polo team was unable to raise the necessary $200, they were not slow in getting the greater portion of it and the result is that the Racines will fight the battle out in Janesville next Friday evening. Never was the home team as strong. This fact they demonstrated in their games with Fort Wayne.

BRITISH CLOSE ON DE WET.

Boer General's Last Gun Captured by Col. Byng—Cornet Wassels Killed. London, Feb. 6.—The British pursuit of General De Wet has been successful to the extent that his last gun has been captured, and Cornet Wassels, one of his principle lieutenants, has been killed. Lord Kitchener sends the news in a dispatch from Pretoria as follows:

"Byng's column, while proceeding toward Diebenburgvlei, after a night march, attacked and routed a considerable force of the enemy under Commandant Wassels. We captured a fifteen pounder and a pom-pom taken from Firman's column, and also a Boer pom-pom, which was the last gun De Wet had, and three wagons of ammunition, 150 horses and 100 mules.

"The Boer casualties were five men killed, six wounded and twenty-seven captured. Among the killed was Field Cornet Wassels. Among the prisoners is Capt. Muller of the Staats Artillerie. The enemy was scattered. Our casualties were slight.

"The National Scouts, near Middelburg (Cape Colony), captured thirteen prisoners.

"Bloubaer, near Amersfoort (Transvaal), captured seven prisoners and 500 head of cattle.

"Gen. Gilbert Hamilton captured thirty-two prisoners."

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by People's Drug Store and King's Pharmacy.
